

Online Ordering that Speaks for Itself

Increase your Revenue, Decrease your Work—with VoxOrder!

Online ordering is good for business. The National Restaurant Association says that 35% of consumers (and 45% of those aged 25-34!) have used the Internet to find out about a restaurant they haven't visited before, and 31% have viewed restaurant menus online.

Pizza Pan, a 100-unit chain, recorded ticket averages rose as much as 18% with online ordering!

Until now, restaurants had three main concerns about accepting online orders, each of which VoxOrder brilliantly addresses:

1) "What if we don't receive the order? Faxes can get missed, and often emails are not seen for some time."

VoxOrder calls your store to confirm that you have received the order and that you are able to fill it in the time requested.

THE UNIQUE VOXORDER PROCESS

2) "Our customer, unsure if his order was actually received, will call us anyway."

Immediately following your confirmation, VoxOrder calls or pages the customer back to assure them that their order is being processed, and to let them know what time it will be ready.

3) "It costs too much."

For only $40/month and 40¢/order (plus setup), your low-cost investment in VoxOrder will pay off immediately in reduced work, increased orders and unmatched convenience!

More orders. Less work. The perfect recipe for your success!
